The council have powers to remove abandoned vehicles from the public highway under the Refuse Disposal (Amenity) Act 1978.

People often confuse a genuinely abandoned vehicle that we have the powers to tackle and remove, with a nuisance and/or untaxed vehicle we can't do anything about.

The council will only remove a vehicle if the investigating Officer is satisfied that the vehicle is abandoned in accordance with set criteria (see right).

In making this decision the Investigating Officer will consider a range of factors such as the age and condition of the vehicle, whether it is in tax, and anything that indicates that the vehicle is not in regular use.

The council will not normally remove a vehicle that is taxed and in good condition unless there is strong evidence that it has not been in use for a long time and has been left on the highway or on private land without permission of the landowner.

Abandoned vehicle on private land

We can remove abandoned vehicles on private land if requested by the landowner.

If they decide to use us to remove the vehicle, there is a charge to cover costs (£50 plus VAT per vehicle (subject to vehicle type and size)).

The landowner does not have to report it to the council to remove an abandoned vehicle on their land, they can take private action to remove it.
