

You are here: > Home > News > Business > CityFibre offers businesses free connections

CityFibre has responded to the sudden suspension \(https://www.connectionvouchers.co.uk/\) of the government's Super Connected Cities connection voucher scheme, by offering businesses free connection to its pure fibre networks in Aberdeen, Coventry, Edinburgh, Huddersfield, Peterborough and York. The offer is open to over 55,000 businesses within reach of CityFibre's networks in its project cities and ends on November 5th.

Since the Government scheme began in 2014, over 40,000 businesses have used the voucher scheme, but many potential applicants will have been caught off guard when the offer was suspended last week. As a supporter of the programme and its initiative to upgrade the nation's business connectivity, CityFibre will waive connection fees costing up to £2500 usually paid by new customers.

You can find out more from the Peterborough Core website \(http://www.peterboroughcore.com/cityfibre-offers-businesses-free-connections-to-replace-governments-connection-voucher-scheme/\).